Water at Silver City. Wednesday afternoon one of the rgest floods of the season came down Main street from Bear mountain. Marshal Laird had just goten the heavy timbers laid for the bridge across Main street and the flood washed the most Uncle Sam expects to give away of them down the arroya, where they were picked up and will be put back in place again. It is not the intention that would withstand the floods as i would have to be an expensive structure. The one now being put in will be removed just before the rainy season had returned its verdict, which acnext year. It is not at all likely that
